14. General Objectives

Allow the student to acquire fundamental knowledge about the dynamics of spaces and societies, especially in the articulation that these have with those. The Portuguese reality will be adopted as a privileged matrix for the illustration of relevant programmatic content.

15. Specific Objectives

Understand the importance of the discipline within architectural education; Identify the role of cultural identities in architecture. Understand the need for territorial integration at different scales. Describe the different demographic profiles in its relationship with the territory and the development; Enunciate the economic and infrastructural dynamics present in the territory and its main constraints; Establish prospective frameworks of socio-territorial development.

16. Skills to be acquired

It is intended that the student is able to:

- Characterise phenomena, elements or geographical facts in their multiple dimensions
- Define terms and notions of Human Geography
- Collect (directly or indirectly), organize and process (numeric, visual, graphic and cartographic) information for the preparation of research work
- take part in debates in a qualified manner
- Anticipate and "build" the future.
