14. General Objectives

the subject arises after a path already taken by European architecture, supported by the subjects of History taught in the previous years of the degree curriculum. In this way, the key issues of the evolution, characterization and understanding of national and international historical time constitute essential elements for the understanding of Portuguese architecture.

15. Specific Objectives

The aim is to analyze the problem of architecture produced in Portugal during the medieval period and its relationship with the corresponding international architectural production. A profile of Portuguese architecture is defined, highlighting its specificity and characterization, seeking to define an aesthetic of Portuguese architecture and the city. We seek to understand the roots of the classic and the connection with medieval survivals

16. Skills to be acquired

Knowledge of architecture as a cultural and historical phenomenon. Knowledge of architecture as a scientific phenomenon, taking into account the sources and importance, validity and use, methods and research techniques.

17. Teaching Methodology

From historical, theoretical and conceptual introductions, each theme will correspond to an analysis of the built work, in the spatial and aesthetic aspects. This analysis will be done using the image and the local reading of the objects.
