14. General Objectives

-To develop students' knowledge and skills about well-being problems related to social inequalities and social exclusion, to facilitate the social work diagnosis and intervention.
- Support master's students in defining research problems and selecting tools for their master's dissertation.

15. Specific Objectives

- Develop theoretical and research components that allow to intervene in different inequalities and contemporary social problems, with particular focus on well-being, poverty and social exclusion issues.
- Deepen diagnostic methodologies for situations in which the recovery from social exclusion faces obstacles resulting from the contagion between the various dimensions of scarce access to resources and opportunities.

16. Skills to be acquired

Ability to understand, diagnose and intervene in inequalities and related contemporary social problems.

17. Teaching Methodology

Theoretical-practical teaching resorting to interaction, presentations and debate with students on key issues linked to problems of inequality and social exclusion.
